She played a lot of these games on the internet on her computer with people from all over the world. In her later years, if she wasn't out mowing her yard, she would be on the computer for long periods of time. Her computer was also a good place to keep in touch with her faraway family members. “ Our best memories of Aunt Donna came during our daughter Tara’s senior year. Ed and Florence Sieber, Donna’s brother and sister-in-law and Tara’s grandparents, never wanted to miss her softball games. Unfortunately some of the away games were pretty difficult for them to drive to. In stepped Aunt Donna. We’d look in the outfield and there she was, she’d driven them to the games and parked so they could watch from the car. We were always impressed by how thoughtful she was to give up those afternoons and evenings so Grandma and Grandpa could be there. And she became a great fan herself. Such a kind and fun-loving soul. She will be missed!
