“ Today is now April 14,2011. It has been so long, but I am still missing you. I hope that you have found your place and your family in Heaven. I know from what you told me from your near death experience long ago, that you are completely at rest. I am sure that you are overjoyed and deeply in love with your new heavenly home.

I wish for my own sake, that you could have stayed here for many more years. But for your sake, I am glad that you suffer no more. I only wish I knew the circumstances that led to your death. I know you was sick.....but I feel that there is more.

Find your peace dear sister.....what is done is done ! Until we meet again.

“ I cant believe this is still on. Just cant get you off my mind. I miss you so much. My mind wants me to believe you are out on the road driving somewhere. But I have to face the fact that you are gone and will never return again. My heart is broken. I should have spent more time with you. I should have said forget the weekend that was coming up and I should have came and had coffee with you on Friday. If I could have only seen the future. I am sorry, sister, I should have been there for you. I would have loved to have been able to do something to keep you here. We had lots of things planned to do in the future that will never get to be now. oh....how i wonder why? I love you dearly, and I always will. Doesnt matter if your here or not, cause you will be in my heart forever.
